

THE PARTY OF ACHIEVEMENTS

Congressman Watson Delivers Notable Address at the State Convention.

OUR RIGHT TO WIN

Reviews the Past Life of the Grand Old Party and Points Confidently to a Glowing Future.

Indianapolis, April 26.—Rarely has an orator in Indiana received closer attention and from a more distinguished audience than was paid to Hon. James E. Watson, chairman of the Indiana Republican state convention, by the delegates and representative citizens

HON. JAMES E. WATSON, who filled the body of Tomlinson hall to overflowing this afternoon. Congressman Watson's address, which is rightly looked upon as the keynote of the campaign so auspiciously launched in Indiana today, was a notable utterance and was frequently punctuated with the heartiest applause. He said:

We are on the eve of a great political struggle. Vital issues are at stake, stupendous interests are involved, the country will be thoroughly aroused and we shall be expected to prove our right to win. When each party presents itself to the electorate and seeks support the questions that will naturally arise in the mind of each intelligent voter are: Upon what do you base your claims? What have you done to deserve recognition? What have you achieved to merit success? For answer to these questions the Republican party gladly appeals to the past and challenges the Democracy to meet it on that issue. And that is the only rational way in which this momentous problem can be solved; for, by their fruits ye shall know them. The Biblical standard of merit applies with equal force to parties and to men. An organization, like an individual, must either stand or fall by its record. The only way to judge the future of a party is by its past. The only real way to tell what a party will do is to see what that party has done. Promises for the future amount to nothing unless promises in the past have been redeemed, unless they are backed up by a record of faithful performance. And how proud we are to meet this test.

PROUD OF ITS ACHIEVEMENTS. Standing amidst its unparalleled achievements of half a century, the Republican party triumphantly surveys the past and courageously faces the future. Upon its waving banners are inscribed the most splendid victories of civilization, and there are also recorded there resolutions of heroic endeavor and high enterprise. The brightest pages of human history were written by the hands of its valorous and able men. Inspiration for the conflicts of the future by a review of its marvelous past. Therefore we this day triumphantly, ay, deprecatingly, invoke the truth of history, knowing full well what the inevitable answer will be.

Gentlemen, a governmental policy cannot do everything that needs must be done to make a country great, but it can do much. It can do much to develop its natural resources, to diversify its industries, to stimulate genius, to give profitable investment to capital, to fully and remuneratively employ labor, to more equitably distribute the fruits of toil, to fix the standard of citizenship, to more generally disseminate the highest ideals in its institutions and embody the dearest principles in its laws. These things this party of ours has ever done. While it may not be responsible for all the marvelous achievements of the last four and forty years, achievements that challenge historical parallel, yet it is never less true that all that progress has occurred under the beneficent operation of its policies and the fearless application of its principles to government.

The only time that triumphal procession down the years has been suspended was when the operations of those policies were temporarily interfered with and an indifferent people intrusted the machinery of government to the nerveless and incompetent hands of a helpless Democracy.

And every presidential campaign we are compelled to temporarily abandon this great work of commercial conquest and industrial achievement and overcome the Democratic party in order that we may continue uninterrupted this work of progress and achievement for the next four years. And this is the great enterprise upon which we are embarking here today.

And, gentlemen, it may be remarked at this time that the Republican party has the uniform success of its policies, that the Republican party has always had the courage to do right, the courage of a sublime conviction, the courage to incorporate the highest ideals in its platforms and apply the strictest principles in its laws. Survey our record, the shining pathway along which we have marched for fifty of the grandest years in all the history of man. Wherever freedom was to be bestowed, wherever the sphere of liberty was to be enlarged, wherever our national honor was to be upheld, wherever our national integrity was to be preserved—there the banner of the Republican party showed aloft, with her sons ready to do and die, if need were, for the eternal right. Her birth was marked by blood, and her entry into this country was sanguinary, but she has never faltered and has never feared. And along the highway she has marched every footprint, whether blood-stained or not, points to the front—toward duty, toward responsibility, toward honor; not one can be found that turns toward the rear, not one that turns toward recreancy, toward cowardice, toward retreat.

A fellow-citizen, let us this day recall the fact that it pays to do right; that, even from a commercial standpoint, even on an industrial basis, it pays to do right. It favors the nation that meets its high calling and measures up to the full standard of its responsibilities. After slavery was destroyed, and labor enfranchised, this nation emerged upon an error of progress she had not known before. After Cuba had been emancipated, Porto Rico liberated and the Philippines freed, our prosperity broke all records and we stood at once the wonder and admiration of the world. And look at the accumulated results of 40 years of free government by this party of ours, results so vast, so varied, that the imagination fails utterly to grasp them. We stand today on the shining summit of success, in the midst of the very turmoil and turbulence of prosperity. We have a record and a mantle to bequeath to our fathers. We enjoy a domestic commerce whose value, volume and variety make these states, if need be, self-supporting. We possess one-half of all the railroad telegraph and telephone lines of the world, while we do one-third of its mining, one-fourth of its manufacturing, one-fifth of its agriculture, and own one-sixth of all its wealth. This is the very coronation of four decades of the wise administration of beneficent laws. These are the ripe fruits of Republican rule and by them we are willing to be known.

Is it any wonder that we are glad to stand upon our record? Is it any wonder that, with such a past, we face the future with hope and confidence unabated? Are not these unsurpassed deeds sufficient justification for an appeal to the people for a renewal of power? Will they not be sufficient warrant for the future support of this nation?

What this party has done in the past, it can do in the future. What it has accomplished for the sons of this Republic that have been and are, it can accomplish for the sons of this Republic that are yet to be. Do you fear the result, you who draw your inspiration from the life of Oliver P. Morton? Do you shrink from the responsibility, you who received your instruction from the lips of Benjamin Harrison? Do you dread the approaching conflict, you who are still guided by the less presence of William McKinley? No. Our party, united, inspired by the consciousness of the highest patriotism, with things to regret and naught to make us ashamed; with a record clean and spotless and filled with the most illustrious triumphs of history; with our country everywhere prosperous and our people everywhere happy—our party hopefully faces the dawn, confident that the ticket it shall nominate will receive the support of the people and that the platform it shall adopt will voice the aspirations of a great majority of our fellow-men.

THE DEMOCRATIC RECORD. And in the meantime what has the Democratic party been doing? What triumphs are engraved upon its banners? What has it accomplished to warrant the people in deposing the Republican party from power and placing the control of the government in its hands?

Gentlemen, have you ever permitted yourselves to contemplate what would have been the inevitable results had the Democratic party been able to execute its plans and purposes at different periods in our history, since the birth of the Republican party?

If that organization had been permitted to carry out its designs in the sixties this present Republic would not be. We should instead look out upon a once great Union dissolved, its former States discordant and belligerent, their people animated by hatred and malice and inspired by motives of revenge.

If that party had been permitted to carry out its designs in the sixties we should today behold the black banner of African slavery waving over the fields of the Southland. African slavery, with all its unspeakable woes, would today curse the fairest portion of our land, and the hands would be set back upon the dial of time thousands of years. If that party had been permitted to enforce its policies in the '80s our obligations would have been reaped, the great lessons of national honor we have since given the world would have remained untaught, and that lofty moral code that today challenges the nations' thought, feeling and action would have been an impossible dream. For with nations as with men, are more than with men, when honor is lost all is lost.

Had that party had free hand in the sixties, or the seventies, or the eighties, as it once had in the nineties, it would have destroyed utterly the last vestige of the free and fair trade system. It would have given our manufacturers over to the keen and merciless competition of similar institutions in Europe, where the laborer would have been underpaid and underfed and underclothed. This policy would have taken our wool, our cotton, our ores and all our raw material to Europe, and we should have been left with a finished product, and would then have exchanged our corn, our wheat, our hogs, our cattle for that finished product. Foreign capitalists would thus have laid their exacting hand upon the products of our farms, our forests, our mines, and levied tribute upon every branch of our industry to sustain their factories, their mechanics, their artisans. They would thus have prevented that rich diversity of industry which is so essential to a complete civilization. History proves that no people can ever attain the supreme heights of national success that do not fully develop manufacturing. The national hand must be trained, as well as the national head and the national heart, in order to measure up to the full standard of national symmetry. I assert that no nation can be truly independent that does not to the fullest degree foster and protect its manufacturing industry. To be really independent, a nation must be self-sustaining, though all the world should close its gates, and no nation can be self-sustaining that does not produce everything that its climate, its soil and its natural resources will enable it to produce. That is the key that unlocks the mystery of the tariff; a nation to be independent must be self-sustaining; to be self-sustaining it must do its own work, and this would have been impossible under the operation of any tariff law proposed by the Democratic party for sixty years—yes, in all our history.

If that organization had been able to enforce its demands in 1896 this country would have gone to a silver basis. Our entire financial, industrial and commercial system would have been impoverished, depleted and well-nigh destroyed. Had the Democratic party been permitted to enforce its platform demands in 1896 it

Saloons for Knightstown

Appearances indicate that the liquor element will win in the saloon fight in Knightstown. Emory McNamee, against whom a remonstrance was filed summoned the 273 remonstrators as witnesses, which seems to have eliminated the opposition. The remonstrance has been withdrawn and the saloonkeepers think it is an indication of the defeat of the temperance advocates. Two other applications for licenses will come before the commissioners in May, and it will then be determined whether or not Knightstown shall have saloons.

No Baseball for Richmond.

Richmond may have no base ball this summer owing to the inability of the management to secure grounds. Manager Alford has signed a team and the first game was advertised for Sunday, but a disagreement arose with the owner of the grounds and the game was called off. A movement is on foot to secure new grounds nearer the center of the city. The old grounds are three miles east of Richmond. The team which has been signed is composed mostly of players that formed the old Entre Nous team, which was one of the strongest independent ball teams in the State, and the failure to procure grounds is a sad disappointment to the fans.

WAS NOT TRIED

Charles Pruitt the Local Amateur Pitcher Not Given a Chance.

Was Released by Louisville to the Cotton State League—Will Play at Connersville.

Charles Pruitt, the almost phenomenal pitcher, who pitched for Rushville last season, and in whom the fans had great hopes, thinking that his masterly pitching would earn him a place on the Louisville team has been released, without a trial.

The admirers of Pruitt agree with him in the opinion that Manager Tabeau did not treat him right in not giving him a chance to show his ability. Pruitt was confident and anxious for a trial.

Following this report comes a second disappointment in the report that Pruitt will pitch for Connersville and not for Rushville as reported.

Mr. Pruitt called at the Republican office this morning and informed us that he was on his way to Connersville, having signed a contract to pitch there this season. He would have liked to have pitched for Rushville, but the inducements were better at the former place.

Pruitt was released by Louisville to the Greenville, Miss., team in the Cotton State league, but as the conditions stipulated were not complied with, he did not go.

The Connersville Examiner, in an article of yesterday's issue, is much elated over the signing of Pruitt by their team, and amongst other things says:

"Pruitt's ability in the box is quite well known by the many base ball enthusiasts in this city by the reputation he won last season while on the Rushville team, and the managers in securing his services for the home team have not alone greatly pleased the fans but have strengthened the team to such an extent that the other players will have more faith in their work in the field and will always be in line to give their best support to the pitcher.

Pruitt will pitch his first game next Sunday for Connersville against the Cincinnati Grays.

THE STATE CONVENTION

Indiana Republicans Meet to Select Delegates and Fill Offices.

Record Breaking Attendance Marks the Party's Rally at Tomlinson Hall Today.

Indianapolis, April 26.—The Indiana Republican state convention was called to order this afternoon at 2 o'clock by James P. Goodrich, chairman of the state committee. At that hour the large hall was packed to overflowing, the delegates being crowded by the throng which had gathered to hear the afternoon speechmaking. The convention was formally opened with prayer by the Rev. C. T. Truby of the First Presbyterian church of Winchester. Mr. Goodrich did not attempt a lengthy speech, simply stating the object of the meeting and calling for the election of permanent officers of the convention. Hon. James E. Watson was elected permanent chairman and Harry Strohm, a Kentland newspaper man, was elected permanent secretary.

Congressman Watson was greeted with a storm of applause when he assumed the gavel, and his address, which was one of the longest ever delivered on a like occasion, received the closest attention of his vast audience. The chairman's address was mainly confined to a review of the work of the Republican party in state and nation, with promises of what that party intended doing in the future. He closed with a eulogy of the present state and national administrations, not forgetting words of warm praise for the Indiana members of congress and the part they are taking in national legislation. As this report closes the convention is being further entertained by brief speeches from the party leaders, including Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge and the Indiana congressmen present.

The convention tomorrow will receive the report of the committee on resolutions, select delegates to the national convention and nominate candidates for the following offices: Four delegates at large, four alternate delegates at large, two electors at large, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, attorney general, reporter of the supreme court, superintendent of public instruction, chief bureau of statistics, judge of supreme court, Second district, judge of supreme court, Third district.

FARMERS CATCH BURGLARS

Thieves Caught in the Act Go Down Before Rural Detectives.

Anderson, Ind., April 26.—Farmers living north of this city captured two bad burglars. The thieves were in the act of looting the home of John Stanley when they were seen. Several farmers, armed with rifles, revolvers and pitchforks, surrounded the house and compelled the thieves to surrender. They were taken to the Anderson jail, where they gave their names as Fred Reno and Walter Comstock. They are believed to be members of an organized gang which has been robbing farm houses. Young Reno is said to be a relative of the members of the Reno gang which terrorized southern Indiana many years ago.

He Knew Their Weakness.

Landisville, Ind., April 26.—A Montrose, a bartender, is a hero here today. Thieves entered the saloon of his employer and looted the cash drawer. Montrose heard them and investigated. They covered him with revolvers as he appeared. He told them that as they had completed their work there was no use of raising any disturbance. He seemed to be a good fellow to the burglars, and when he asked them to drink they did so. Many more drinks were taken and ere long the "knights of the jimmy" were drunk. Montrose put them into a farm wagon and hauled them seven miles to the Marion jail, where they gave their names as Fred Ray and George Hickson.

A "census" of the vehicles passing over London bridge was taken recently for several days. The number of vehicles was 125,373.

AID FOR POWERS

Man Condemned to Death Asks Assistance of Fellow Republicans.

Caleb Powers, accused of complicity in the Goebel murder and who is now under sentence of death in Kentucky, convicted on the flimsiest kind of circumstantial evidence by a jury of opposite politics, has written the following pathetic and appealing letter to the Republicans of Indiana:

"It grieves me very much, indeed, to be forced to call upon sister States for financial aid, but I have fought for over four years a relentless and powerful monied prosecution, and during all this time I have been wrongfully deprived of my liberties, hounded and denounced as an assassin. It looks as though the partisan courts of my native State have decided to judicially murder me. The $100,000 corruption fund has been a powerful leverage in the accomplishment of this together with the political hatred of my political opponents. In the event that I am denied a new trial by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, I want to carry my case to the Supreme court of the United States, provided I can raise means sufficient to print the record and employ the Hon. John G. Carlisle, Senator W. M. Lindsay and ex-Governor Black, of New York, or other able counsel, to properly present my case in the Supreme court. It will be too late to do all of this if I wait until the Kentucky court has passed upon my case. And if I am granted a new trial here the expense of another trial will have to be incurred and the federal question in my case properly solved. Any means given me through my friend, James H. Moore, or otherwise for the accomplishment of the end set out, will be gratefully received and duly appreciated."

An Evening of Pleasure and Profit.

On last Wednesday evening, April 20th, the young people's society of the Milroy United Presbyterian church entertained the societies of the other two churches in a most delightful manner.

A program had been arranged in which each church was to have some part. The subject chosen for discussion, was "What is Worth While," and the Rev. Bean, of the Methodist church, introduced the first division with "Well Defined Moral Principles," as a basis for his remarks. He made an earnest appeal to young people to establish themselves early in life on the side of right, and said that only the life that conformed with the Bible standard of morality could be "worth while."

Miss Norah Shauck, of the Christian church, then spoke for a few minutes on "A Safe and Healthy Social Life," and as was remarked afterward, Miss Shauck seemed to have gotten out of the subject the very kernel of truth as it related to the general topic "What is Worth While."

Rev. Schmunk, of the U. P. church, then talked for a little while on "A Practical Christian Faith, and Conscientious Living," based on Christ's sermon on the mount. He spoke in his usually forcible, logical and entertaining way, as close attention of his hearers arrested.

Miss Shauck then favored the audience with a beautiful solo.

The second division was the application of the subject to local conditions and was introduced by Elder Givens, of the Christian church, in "Some reasons why not every one in our town is living the life that is 'worth while.'" Mr. Givens, in his opening remarks, said that he had learned since coming to the church, that he had been on the wrong track; that he was on some other man's gage, so that his talk would have to be entirely extemporaneous. However, his manner bespoke a message of worth and interest to all, and no one was disappointed in this part of the program.

Mr. F. C. Green of the Methodist church then followed with a paper on "What is the Church's Attitude in the solution of Life?" Mr. Green was true to himself in his practical, sensible way of treating the subject, and was listened to with great interest and pleasure. Miss Ivy Frazier of the U. P. church then read an excellent paper on "How are we as individuals to prove to the world that these things are worth while." Although this was the closing number of the program, the audience did not relax in interest, feeling sure that this very excellent subject in the hands of Miss Frazier would prove interesting and instructive. And their expectations were fully realized.

Immediately after the close of the program refreshments were served, during which time, and for an hour or so afterwards, a social time was enjoyed by all. Those who lingered till the last enjoyed a treat which was not accorded the many. Mr. Will Cover recited "Jimmy Butler and the Owl," in a manner very entertaining to those who were fortunate enough to have lingered thus long.

Much credit is due Mrs. Desie Innis for the delightfully arranged plan of entertainment, and many were the expressions of appreciation of the cordiality extended by the U. P. church to the sister churches, and the opportunity afforded them of spending an evening together, which had proven so pleasant and profitable.

A VISITOR.

Flood Feared at St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 26.—The Mississippi river is rising rapidly here and operations to resist a possible flood are steadily being pushed. The danger line here is thirty feet and the river today registers over twenty-eight feet. The high water mark in the flood of last year was thirty-eight feet. In East St. Louis, Ill., which suffered so severely from the flood last year, Mayor Silas Cook secured a large force of men and the building of dikes was at once begun. As fast as dikes are built forces of men will be stationed to protect them and keep them in order. So far no damage has been done by the rising tide.

An Appeal Taken.

New Haven, Conn., April 26.—An appeal has been taken by Mrs. Grace Imogene Bennett and the other residuary legatees under the will of Philo S. Bennett, from the decision of Judge Cleveland of the probate court, by which the application for the removal of William J. Bryan as executor and trustee was dismissed. The matter now goes to the superior court.

Shift of Marines.

Washington, April 26.—The winter maneuvers having been concluded, the battalion of marines now at Guantanamo will be brought to League Island. The approach of the heated season is also a consideration. The battalion stationed on the isthmus will remain there, since the reports show only twelve cases of sickness in the entire command of 450 men.

MILITIA SCORES

The Colorado Supreme Court Gives a Ruling On the Moyer Case.

A MILITARY NECESSITY

It is Held That Public Policy Requires the Detention of the President of Miner's Federation.

The Question Is Not So Much One of Personal Liberty As of Public Policy.

Denver, Col., April 26.—The state supreme court has denied the motion for the release of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, on bail pending decision on the habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf. The hearing on the merits of the case was set for May 5. Meantime Moyer will be held as prisoner in the military bull pen at Telluride.

The opinion of the question of admitting Moyer to bail was delivered by Justice Steele. It is in part: "In the case at the bar, the respondent General Bell declares that he detains the petitioner as a military necessity and that he has been commanded by the governor not to surrender the petitioner either on writ of habeas corpus or otherwise.

"If the liberty of the petitioner alone were involved, we should probably resolve the doubt in his favor, admit him to bail and determine the question of jurisdiction afterward, but the head of the executive department of the state has stated in the return to the writ that in his solemn judgment peace and tranquility cannot be speedily restored to the county of San Miguel unless the petitioner remains in the custody of the military authorities. Therefore the matter involved affects not only the liberty of the petitioner, but the peace of the people of San Miguel and incidentally the tranquility of the people of the entire state.

"To admit the petitioner to bail before we have determined the main question would, it seems, to us, be invading the legitimate province of the executive department, and that we are restrained from doing by the fundamental law."

The supreme court also granted the application of Adjutant Bell and Captain Bulkeley Welles for a writ of supersedeas to stay the execution of the judgment of District Judge Theron Stevens of Ouray, declaring Bell and Welles in contempt of court and fining them each $500 for failing to produce the person of Moyer in court in answer to the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Stevens.

HARD ON THE DOG

Chicago "Hound of the Baskervilles" Comes to End of His Day.

Chicago, April 26.—George P. Macklin of 1924 Jackson boulevard, has lost his valuable mastiff because a number of boys in his neighborhood persisted in making a "ghost dog" of him. The mastiff, which was of gigantic size and weighed 180 pounds, was enticed away from the home of Mr. Macklin and night after night the boys would smear his head and face with phosphorescent paste and then turn him loose on the streets. So many complaints were made to the police of the number of children frightened by the "ghost dog" that officers were sent out to hunt the animal. The climax came last night when a neighbor of Mr. Macklin reported that his six-year-old daughter had been thrown into convulsions by the sight of the animal. The officers hurried out after the dog and shot him. They are now looking for the boys who painted him.

The Cambridge City Creamery Co., yesterday, shipped a car load of condensed milk to Tokio, Japan. There are seven hundred cases of the product in the consignment. It is the first foreign shipment that the company has ever made.

The four-year-old son of A. H. Campbell, of Greenfield, fell yesterday while at play, running a stick which he had in his mouth, back into his neck. The soft palate and tonsils were injured, though it is believed neither will have to be removed.

Friends here have been informed of the death of Miss Catherine Conde at the home of Charles Kemble, at Greensburg. The funeral took place at 9:30 a. m. in that city and burial was at Milroy today. She was formerly a resident of this county and is well known. B. L. McFarlan and family attended the funeral.

In our account of the trip through Orange township, last Saturday by Prof. Dannis in yesterday's issue inadvertently omitted the fact that Superintendent W. O. Headlee accompanied the professor. Mr. Headlee is a close student of the bird family and was much interested in the blue heron.

Work was stopped at the power house yesterday on account of the rain. The big steel crane, weighing sixteen tons, is now in position on its track in the engine room. The work was finished yesterday without a mishap and Mr. C. N. Dobbs, of Detroit, who was sent here to superintend the installation by the Northern Iron Works of that city, left for home yesterday.

There is no court today, and will probably not be much tomorrow on account of so many attorneys being absent to the State convention.

Drs. Dill and Dill, eminent eye and nerve specialists of New Castle and Connersville, will visit this city for a few days. The doctors come highly recommended.

For the first time in the history of the New Castle high school there will be two colored girls in the graduating class this year. The class is larger than for fifteen years.

A severe storm visited the southern part of the State yesterday. The wind was high and did considerable minor damage. Hailstones of unusually large dimensions fell for a time. It is estimated that full two inches of rain fell in some parts.

Young ladies of the town of Plainfield, in order to earn money for the library, are following unique occupations. Prominent society belles are sharpening scissors, doing manicuring and hair dressing, selling "cracker jack" popcorn and maple sugar, delivering papers on news routes, "cleaning house," telling fortunes and shining shoes. The ladies expect to earn $1,000 or $1,500 in this way.—Ex.

George W. Mallory has purchased O. M. Smith's bus line and took possession this morning. Mr. Mallory is a man well experienced in the livery and bus business and will no doubt give the people of Rushville and the traveling public a service hard to beat. Mr. Mallory went to Indianapolis this morning to purchase two new cabs and sets of harness for the line and will move the headquarters the line to the old Hiner & Davis livery barn on E. Second street.

Shelbyville Liberal: Chairman Deitzer, of the Democratic county committee, is the same Deitzer that the Republican editor of an alleged Democratic paper of this city, recently "dubbed" a "has been." Since the Republican editor referred to, Mayor and Chairman Deitzer as a "has been," he "has been" elected a delegate to the state convention for Hearst and "has been" elected chairman of the county committee. A Republican makes a poor Democratic editor about Shelbyville.

The little infant son of Jesse Pugh and wife was quite sick yesterday and today.

Henry county fishermen are greatly incensed at the dynamiting of fish in Blue river in the northern part of the county.

The Indiana Optometrical Company has let a contract to W. R. Martin, of this city, for placing gold leaf signs, circular in form and three and one half feet in diameter on the windows of their offices throughout the state. The company has offices in Greenfield, Shelbyville, Greensburg, New Castle, Muncie, Connersville and many others of Indiana's principal towns and cities.

The new law regulating the transfer of pupils from one school to another is not clearly understood by all. All pupils attending school elsewhere must be enumerated where they really reside, and the tuition paid to the school which they attend. Heretofore they have been enumerated where they attended school and the change only makes the enumeration more complicated.

Greensburg News: Among the coming attractions in baseball sport is the visit of the female ball club, scheduled to play here during the afternoon of May 5. The girls are advertised as the St. Louis Stars. Miss St. Leon will occupy the pitcher's box and deliver up a variety of benders, shoots and other kinds and styles of ball, which, in connection with her sweet smile, will make the opposing batters cross eyed.

The graduating class of the Rushville High School held a meeting last night at the high school building and selected ultramarine blue and gold as their colors. The class decided on an elaborate and beautiful program for the commencement and the contract for the printing was let to the Republican Co. The class decided to present to the school, with the proceeds from its production of Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice, a fine imported oil painting of the Aurora, which will be secured through Lieber's Art Gallery, of Indianapolis.

A Washington dispatch says that the practice of rural carriers acting as agents or solicitors for hire will become a thing of the past at the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1st. Whether the Senate or House amendment is adopted the result will be the same. Both prohibit soliciting and sentiment in opposition to the agency privilege is so unmistakable in congress that the department officials propose to adopt stringent regulations governing the matter. Every effort will be made to secure the adoption of the House amendment, which is sweeping in its terms.

Today, April 26th, the lodge of Odd Fellows is just eighty-five years old. The order came into existence on April 26th, 1819, with five members. Shelbyville Republican: A St. Louis man has invented the S-Ray, and we hear that it outrays any of the rest of them. It is only a question of time when all the letters of the alphabet will have rays. There are now the X-rays, the N-rays and the S-rays. What the labor unions have long been working on with great success is A-ray and the reorganizers in old Shelby are laboring night and day to displace the George M. Rays, but up to the present time have met with but little success.

"Pride of Shelbyville," Knights of Pythias, expect to have a great time at Shelbyville next Sunday on which day they will celebrate. The annual sermon of the order will be delivered by the Rev. Leonard at the Second Baptist church at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There will be at least 150 Knights present. Three lodges from Indianapolis, besides a Uniform Rank, also one lodge from Rushville and another from Anderson, have signified their intentions of being present on this occasion.

Bank Successfully Resisted Run.

Indianapolis, April 26.—Considerable excitement was created here yesterday afternoon by a run on the savings department of the Indiana Trust company's bank. The run was met by the bank putting six tellers at work paying off the anxious depositors who were in line from 2 to 3 o'clock in the evening. The bank's unusual action in keeping open all evening had the effect to allay anxiety and the run finally ceased. State Auditor Sherrick made a speech to the throng of depositors gathered in front of the bank, in which he assured them of the stability of the institution. How the run started is not known, but once started it gathered in force until the street was crowded with anxious depositors. Only the savings department was affected.
